Another Year And We're We've Lived And Learned

Our school is a home away from home for everyone at Lane. Students and staff have worked together this year to promote Lane as a school centered around student ideas and activities. Because of this, students and staff experienced success during the 1973-74 school year. Facts were learned, grades were earned, activities were enjoyed with togetherness as the feeling.

We all kept the school going through the rainy autumn, the snowy winter, and the beautiful, new spring. Together we made it!

This yearbook is for all the people in Lane Junior High School, so they can remember this school year as it was. Lane is what it is because of all of the students working together.

FACULTY

Administrators Help Us Succeed

Mr. Williams is a principal whose major interest is having a good school for the students. He helps the students face problems of school life in order to provide a good education for all Lane Vikings.

Being a principal is not an easy task, but Mr. Williams enjoys helping students arrange their schedules, organizational programs and all activities relating to Lane. His interest and concern for the student body is accepted and appreciated by the Vikings.

Mr. Williams takes time from his busy schedule to greet Barb Teel, a new student at Lane.

Mr. Karanovich, our assistant principal, checks his calendar to verify an open date for an all-school assembly program. His duties at Lane include arranging seventh-period activities, parent-teacher procedures and guidance programs. He is an important part of the Lane staff.

Guidance Staff Gives Information

Guidance counselors Mrs. McDougale and Mr. Kaufman talk to Mr. Rahden, Lane's psychomitrist, about the results of a student's testing. Mrs. McDougale and Mr. Kaufman work with the students to help with personal and scholastic problems.

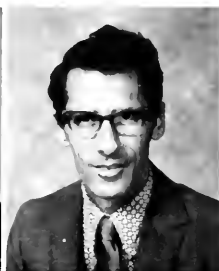

Mrs. Younghous and Mrs. Kindy wait for Mrs. Hults to get a student's schedule out of the file. Mrs. Younghous is the school treasurer and Mrs. Hults is the office secretary. Mrs. Kindy is the attendance clerk and the study hall supervisor.

And So We End Another Year . . .

As we walk out the door, what remains? A few tattered books and a locker that never closed, one favorite teacher that sticks out in our minds, a broken pencil and a pen that dried, all memories of the year behind. A year we'll never see again. Only our minds hold what happened then. Just out of reach of reality, yet through our togetherness, the past is now a part of the present.
